

This past Monday night I had a mare go missing. There are no fences down and our neighbours have not seen her. There were tracks for a truck and trailer just outside the pasture. Unfortunately, it looks like she might have been stolen. She is approximately 12.2 hh, pure black Welsh pony with a refined face. She has a scar on one of her front fetlocks. She is either heavy in foal or has a curly foal at her side. I would hope the person who took her did not get rid of the foal. In the second picture you can see her foal from last year. She is a child's mount and her ten year old owner is missing her very much.
